

safesteps4children.org.au

A website to help young children aged 3-7 better understand family violence, and adjust to entering safe house and refuge accommodation

On safesteps4children.org.au, children will find:

- An interactive 'Safe House' environment based on a fun tree house design
- Colourful animated animal characters and digital objects that react with speech and text bubbles when clicked on
- Simple, age-appropriate information on family violence and personal safety
- Information that addresses questions and concerns children commonly have when entering a safe house or refuge setting, such as why family and friends can't visit
- Puzzles, word games and colouring in sheets that can be printed out for tactile play safesteps4children.org.au also contains helpful info for parents, counsellors and social workers
